
All three intervals lie wholly below zero: each family is an excluded family, not an ambiguous one.

Positive would favor Organica. The interval is Bonferroni-adjusted across the three candidate families.

Source: docs/phase_k_results.json -> summaries | drawn by benchmarks/figure_papers.py